

Issue:

Bock 6: The loss function was changed from mse to categorical_crossentropy and the metric from mae to accuracy.

MSE and MAE are regression metrics. They measure numerical distance, which has no meaningful interpretation when the output is a softmax probability vector over gesture classes. Categorical crossentropy is the correct loss because it is mathematically paired with softmax and properly maximizes the probability assigned to the true class. Accuracy is the appropriate metric for a classification task.

```
sup: 0.028620
```

```
hi: 0.048783
```

```
sup: 0.951217
```

```
hi: 0.825796
```

```
sup: 0.174204
```

```
hi: 0.898496
```

```
sup: 0.101504
```

